

You may have noticed that in my freshman year at Cornell, I failed my Linear Algebra MATH 2210 class. The blame for this lies squarely on my colleague Zara Islam, who often goes by the alias Zara Islaaa. I have been subjected to crime, injury, and assault, and this severely impeded my ability to achieve a GPA that truly reflects my qualification for your esteemed institution. Additionally, I found her using ChatGPT to write her CURB application.